Lab helper / Lab technician position spring semester 2027

What: For the upcoming spring semester 2027 (time frame January/February to Mai/June), the Biochemistry Institute is seeking for an approachable person to assist with lab setup, end-of-day housekeeping and preparing solutions for the basic courses of biochemistry (Grundlagenpraktika) of science and medical students.

Pensum: 20-40%, working times flexible upon discussion, in general about 2h per day in the afternoon/evening and 1-2 mornings per week, higher workload at the beginning of the semester. The position can also be shared between two persons.

If you are interested or would like more information: please contact Cristina Manatschal (c.manatschal@bioc.uzh.ch) by Friday, December 4, and include a brief description of your current study situation and your motivation. A formal application is not necessary.